CECAT Creative Expression Centre for Arts Therapy

Inquiries to Lynnette Beekwilder-Reid
ANZATA W.A Regional Committee
a.th.clinicalpractice@bigpond.com
The ‘Keeping In Touch’ team, Danita Walsh, Jan Telfer, Jackie Lewis and ANZATA committee representative Lynnette Beekwilder-Reid, who now form the ANZATA W.A Regional Group committee, have pleasure in presenting a one day Symposium on Saturday, May 14th, followed on Sunday the 15th by the midyear ANZATA committee meeting where, as usual, ANZATA members are welcome to observe.

Art Therapy in WA and Beyond Symposium offers presentations and workshops across a range of arts therapy practices and ideas; exempling art, dance, music, movement and drama therapies.

We welcome the presenters and visitors from interstate, New Zealand and Singapore who will join with our Western Australian colleagues for this exciting event.

The President of the Australian and New Zealand Arts Therapy Association Amanda Levey, and ANZATA Committee, take great pleasure in inviting arts therapists, psychologists, psychotherapists, counsellors, social workers, medical practitioners, teachers and education workers, and others who share our interest in the use the creative arts to foster well-being, to join us for this exciting symposium. We wish to extend our gratitude to the Creative Expression Centre for Arts Therapy (CECAT) and to the staff and the Graylands Campus for the use of their facilities. We also would like thank the North Metropolitan Area Mental Health Service and ANZATA for their support and funding assistance for this event. Finally we are extremely grateful to the ANZATA W.A Regional Committee, who have planned and organised this inspiring program of presentations and workshops.

Graylands Campus is W.A.’s largest and oldest psychiatric health facility in the metropolitan area and was established in the early 1900’s. It is part of the North Metropolitan Area Health Service — Mental Health (NMAHS – MH), which is funded by the Health Department of W.A. CECAT is also managed under NMAHS – Statewide Services. Graylands Campus consists of multiple mental health services including an acute and long stay hospital, forensic hospital, community treatment centres such as CECAT, as well as research and educational centres. CECAT is now 42yrs old and is the oldest and largest arts therapy mental health centre of its kind associated with a mental health campus in Australia. It also has a second service located in the city: Reflections Art Studio (RAS).

The symposium will begin with a welcome to country by Noonga Elder Mrs May McGuire, and then features a choice of 16 presentations and workshops, concluding with an ANZATA committee open panel discussion. We look forward to you joining us.
Location: CECAT is located on the Graylands Campus, Brockway Rd, Mt Claremont. This is about an hour from the domestic and international airports. Closest accommodation is in the areas of Floreat, Claremont, Subiaco and Cottesloe. The Graylands Campus is in Mt Claremont and is about 30 minutes from Perth City and Fremantle City. CECAT is now 42 yrs old and is the oldest and largest arts therapy mental health centre of its kind associated with a mental health campus in Australia. It also has a second service located in the city called Reflections Art Studio (RAS) WA.

For more info on CECAT and location map, go to: www.health.wa.gov.au/arttherapy/home/

Transport: Buses and trains travel close to Graylands Campus. Trains are a brisk 30 minute walk to Graylands. Take the Fremantle line from the city to Karrakatta or Loch Stations and walk west 30 mins to Graylands Campus. Or take the Perth city line and also get off at Karrakatta or Loch Stations. CECAT is located near the western end of the campus as sign posted. Free parking is available on site. Check Transperth for more information regarding bus lines. Buses stop on Mooro Drive, Brockway Road and JohnXX111 Avenue—all adjoining campus.

Local sightseeing: Cottesloe Beach is a famous local beach well worth visiting as is the historic port city of Fremantle and Perth city on the Swan River. Other sites of interest include: Kings Park, the lovely botanical park on the hill with outstanding views of Perth City and the Swan River. Swan River cruises are a lovely way to sight see along the river or a day trip to Rottnest Island from the ferries in the City or from Fremantle. Check out more information on the web about Rottnest Island which is located about 14 miles off shore from Rottnest.

Black Swan Moments

Black Swans were once thought to be impossible and so was psychotherapy for those with severe mental illness. This presentation offers an overview of the development of the art therapy group program at Joondalup/Clarkson Community Health which has engaged several hundred participants over the last five years in art psychotherapy and studio arts. We will touch on the shared ethos with allied health colleagues, the development of a range of groups, some statistics and some of the challenges we have encountered. We will show with permission, some images of the art works of participants with unique cultural and personal stories who also journey with complex trauma and depression, psychosis, severe anxiety, and post natal depression. In the last half hour we will invite you to try a brief exercise used to offer containment and hope at the end of a block of sessions. We will ask you to consider your own hopes for the future of our profession.

Megan Booth BA FA.Dip Ed. Student of MAAT.

Working with our Strength : The Intersection Between Art Therapy and Positive Psychology

This workshop is designed to explore the potential for the intersecting between Art Therapy and the principals of positive psychology. Participants will be encouraged to identify and explore their own strengths as a spring board for art making that enables ones own well-being, and consider the potential of carrying out strengths based art making in art practice.

Fiona Fitzpatrick B.Ed. M,A (Art Th). ATR, Grad Dip Family Therapy

Visual Journaling: Where Words and Images Meet

A visual journal is a place to experiment, wonder, explore and dream. It is also a place to express, question, acknowledge and feel. Image making and personal writing are a unique combination of the two creative processes within a journal format. This workshop will focus on the use of visual journaling; a process for enhancing personal creativity and self expression. Explore some simple visual journaling techniques and enjoy discovering new ways to reflect on your life.

Participants are required to bring the following;
• 2-3 assorted self photos on glossy photo paper (colour and black and white) head and shoulders and/or full length.
• Blank paged journal,A4 or A5 no less than 190gsm
FIONA GARDNER  A FA(sculpture), Post Grad Dip Education(Sec), Cert 1V TAA, MATH, AThR

Making Progress: A school based Art Therapy Program for year 11 and 12 students with an intellectual disability.

The presentation will revolve around a slide presentation of the school context within which Fiona works and images of case material that she will speak about.

The presentation will explore
- The school context
- The process of the art therapy program and it’s role within the school’s the perceptions of the staff and students towards art therapy
- Sharing of case material
- Personal reflections
- There will be a brief drawing activity around art therapy in schools followed by questions and discussion

JOHN HENZELL

Masks and gardens: Starting point – two verses by the Portuguese poet Fernando Pessoa

The workshop stems from two short poems which suggest our multi-layered selves. Pessoa was deeply concerned with several alter egos who were as much him as himself, he wrote their biographies, gave them birthdays and published poetry by four of them, himself included. Through images and writing participants may reflect on, imagine and confidentially discuss other (maybe hidden) selves. 90 minutes is brief but time enough to reveal clues to further self-exploration and personal experiment.

Interventions in the Art Therapy Encounter

The aim of my PhD study is to illuminate the experience of young people who have been identified in schools as having mental health problems and who become engaged in art therapy. It is anticipated that the investigation will shed light on why art therapy can be a successful intervention in these circumstances. The study also seeks to examine and clarify the role of the art therapist while engaging in the therapeutic relationship.
DENA LAWRENCE AThR. RMHN.

A Path With Art: Expressing Untold Kashmir

Dena is a registered Art Therapist and Registered Mental Health Nurse who has worked in mental health for twenty seven years. Dena created, developed the art therapy program at Hollywood Private Hospital and Clinic. She has designed and facilitated specific groups and workshops for those who suffer PTSD, grief and loss, depression, anxiety, eating disorders and addictions. Dena's presentation is of a community based art therapy project that she established and is developing in Kashmir India. This project provides workshops designed to provide art therapy for those who suffer PTSD, depression, anxiety and grief as a consequence of trauma from military occupation and deaths over the past 60 years.

AMANDA LEVEY BA(Hons)Psych, MAAT, Registered Psychologist, AThR

Creating Ritual: Movement-based Intermodal Arts Therapy

‘Rites’, says Antoine de St Exupery's fictional fox in “The Little Prince”, ‘are actions too often neglected. They are what makes one day different from the other days, one hour from the others.” A ritual, however simple, creates a border around an activity the way a frame does around a picture. It sets this activity apart from ordinary life in a way that emphasizes beauty and pleasure, ensuring that those who participate in it become more aware of its significance. Some social scientists claim that many of the difficulties people experience in contemporary life are because we observe so few rituals. However, it is not necessary to cling to rituals from another time that are no longer relevant, or to appropriate them from other cultures that are not our own. In this presentation, Amanda will use video footage and photographs to demonstrate and discuss her personal and collaborative work with colleague Rachel Grimwood in movement-based psychotherapy and its relationship to the practice of ritual. Participants will then be invited to explore the elements that commonly make up rituals and the possibilities of applying them to their current life and situation, and to their work with clients.

MANUELA MACRI
BA Theatre theory and practice, UWS. Grad Dip Expressive Therapies, MA Drama Therapy ECU

Story making with children of refugee background

By way of warm up Manuela will outline the experience of refugee children and the benefits of the story making process with them. There will be a presentation of two case examples; one of organic story making with a child, another using Alida Gersie’s basic story structure with siblings. Manuela will explore the themes and conflict as expressed through the metaphors the children created.
Co-Presenters  Ms PAULINE MARSDEN BSW, MA, ATh, MATS
Mrs MARY THOMAS B. Ed

Who am I supposed to be?  Enabling gifted students to develop a sense of identity in relation to the whole self through the use of arts therapy.

This presentation will explore the benefits of a program that uses arts therapy for working therapeutically with gifted children. The presenters will outline the development of their program and the range of activities they have implemented. They will provide examples of the student’s art making that enhanced their ability to accept themselves, be proud of their uniqueness and develop skills to negotiate the social world. As a result, participants will have the opportunity to expand their understanding of the complex social and emotional challenges faced by gifted primary school students.

Acrylic Paint on Hessian and Calico

The carefully crafted therapeutic activity will be an opportunity for participants to reflectively and collaboratively engage through action and dialogue while working around an agreed community theme; such as how do we build sustainable pathways to improve lifestyles and health.

Publish or Perish: a Picture is Worth a 1000 Words

This one and a half hour presentation will address how ARTS THERAPIES publication protocols mainly in Australia are currently constructed and the contestation that occurs for researchers and academics who want to publish in the field. The adage ‘a picture is worth a thousand words’ drives this conversation. What happens in arts therapies in Australia when it comes to publication? We will make pictures to describe our ‘word’ privileged word. The workshop will address the current Australia ERA (Excellence in Research Australia).
MEGAN SHEILL MA(ATh), AThR

Art Psychotherapy, Dialectical Behaviour Therapy and Borderline Personality Disorder.

In this presentation I will share with you some of my work using Art Psychotherapy to enhance the learning of some of the skills of Dialectical Behaviour Therapy (DBT). DBT was designed by Dr Marsha Linehan Ph.D from the University of Washington to help sufferers of Borderline Personality Disorder learn skills to cope with the symptoms of their disorder. I have designed an 8 week program which includes some of the most helpful skills of DBT and I have incorporated art psychotherapy as a way of learning these skills in a visual, experiential way. In this presentation I will concentrate on the development of a program that can give a short term intervention of a 3 week skills based program using Mindfulness practice, distress tolerance and emotional regulation. We will see examples of how imagery can assist in learning these skills and an experiential section of the presentation will enable participants to gain a personal insight into the value of art psychotherapy in this kind of intervention.

Getting it right: The uniqueness and challenges of setting up a successful private practice in the creative arts therapies

What’s involved in setting up a successful private practice? The art of bringing together the raw materials, practicalities and complexities of running a successful private practice in the unique fields of the creative arts therapies. How do we promote our specialty, our difference, and our common ground not only within the wider therapeutic community but also to the general public? How do we survive in private practice? This thoughtful experiential presentation will engage you to expand your views about what is a successful private practice and how to create one.

Narradrama

Daramatherapy as well as other expressive arts therapies are:
“the systematic and intentional use of drama/theatre [arts] processes and associations to achieve the therapeutic goals of symptom relief, emotional and physical integration and personal growth.”

In this sense, arts/drama therapies has became a counselling tool which is starting to be recognised throughout the school community.

I define the dramatherapeutic interventions with the focus on the outcomes of the process so that I can use various dramatherapeutic [arts] methods, e.g. developmental transformations, narradrama, role play, drawing, painting, sculpture or games as a means to achieve goals that are in the line with school counselling directives.

I will present 8 simple and practical steps to address student’s needs. I will also give a samples of ready to use arts excercises to develop each step further.

3 Kodja Aboriginal Interpretive Centre in Kojonup    4 Aboriginal artist Marietta Bray, from Warmun

Adrian was born and educated in Wroclaw, Poland. He is a psychologist and dramatherapist. Adrian arrived in Sydney in 2004. Since then he has been working with children and adolescents at schools in Sydney South West Area. Adrian is the co-leader of an Introductory and an Advanced Dramatherapy Courses, run by the Dramatherapy Centre. He enjoys working experientially within the safe structure of the therapeutic process. In 2006 he created together with Joanna Jaaniste a documentary DVD: “Going Birco”, which was about the use of dramatherapy within the school setting (see ANZATA Newsletter 2007). Also since 2006 he has been made a performing member of Sydney Playback Theatre Company. Currently Adrian is enrolled in PhD research course at UWS.
